

OFREND A NOCTURNA

THE DISPATCH

ISSUE 016 / 12 OCTOBER 2026

THE PINS HAD IT COMING.

TERROR LANES • THE COMPETITION GETS PERSONAL

THE PINS HAD IT COMING.

THE OPENING NIGHT REPORT

Terror Lanes opened, and the Ofrendites came. Zen, Tree, Chppy, Sio, Ziva, and plenty of others tried their hand at bowling. One thing became clear very quickly: this is a competitive bunch.

Those who came for the music and shenanigans enjoyed the tunes, dancing, and conversation. Then someone discovered the arcade. Things escalated.

In the end, Zen walked away with the Terror Lanes trophy. This time.

Discord has already hosted trash talk, challenges for a rematch, and even serious discussion of a bowling league. A bowling league. Seriously.

“Maybe we’ve created a monster.”

ZEN, ENJOY THAT TROPHY WHILE YOU CAN.

A RETRO WAVES PRODUCTION

TWO SIDES OF THE SHUTTER

NOW SHOWING / PRIS GALLERY

Two photographers. Two perspectives.

Two Sides of the Shutter.

Downstairs, Sio Skytower explores the moments, connections, and beauty that inspire us through Motivation.

Upstairs, Tera Byte takes motivation somewhere considerably darker with The Last Exposure, an interactive mystery told through images and audio.

Come for the art. Stay for the motivation. Try not to get murdered. ;)

OCTOBER TAKES HOLD

AN OFRENDANOCTURNA PHOTO ESSAY

The Headless Horseman has arrived outside the gallery.

THE DETAILS ARE GETTING STRANGER

WHISPERS OF OFREND A

OVER 90 UNIQUE VISITORS

Step into the cemetery after dark, where the paths wind between old stones and the dead still have stories to tell. Whispers of Ofrenda is an immersive ghost walk featuring eight narrated tales, each waiting to be discovered as you wander through the Abbey and Cemetery.

With its haunting atmosphere and stories hidden among the shadows, it is made for October nights. Bring a friend, or make it a delightfully spooky date night. More than 90 unique visitors have already found their way into the experience.

Make sure you visit before it's gone.

THE DEAD HAVE STORIES. SO DO WE.

COSMICALLY QUESTIONABLE ADVICE

ARIES

You have mistaken a minor inconvenience for a declaration of war. Before you assemble your allies, consider that the printer may simply be out of paper.

TAURUS

A luxurious evening of doing absolutely nothing is threatened by someone saying, "We should make plans." Lock the door. Dim the lights. Become unavailable.

GEMINI

An old flame may reappear with a suspiciously casual "hey." The stars recommend remembering why their number was saved as DO NOT ANSWER.

CANCER

You will sense that someone is upset before they know it themselves. This is impressive, but you are not required to adopt every stray emotion you find.

LEO

Someone will steal your thunder this week. Let them have it. Your entrance is scheduled for later, and frankly, the lighting will be better.

VIRGO

Your attempt to fix one tiny problem will reveal seventeen others. Step away from the spreadsheet before you start assigning consequences to people alphabetically.

LIBRA

A charming stranger has excellent manners, beautiful eyes, and at least three red flags. You will call them "interesting." The universe calls this a pattern.

SCORPIO

You will learn a secret you were never meant to hear. For once, your greatest power is doing absolutely nothing with it. Terrifying, isn't it?

SAGITTARIUS

A spontaneous decision will become a story you tell for years. Leave out the part where you ignored four perfectly reasonable warnings.

CAPRICORN

Your competence has once again been mistaken for a willingness to do everyone else's work. Practice this ancient spell: "That sounds like your problem."

AQUARIUS

Your latest idea is either visionary or deeply impractical. Unfortunately, you have already ordered supplies. May the return policy be merciful.

PISCES

Your intuition says something is wrong. Your imagination has already written a seven-season psychological thriller about it. Ask one normal question first.
